

Make Food an Election Issue!

Join us on April 22nd for an Eat Think Vote event.

In the upcoming Federal Election, Nourish Nova Scotia is working to ensure that youth across the province can share their voices in important policy decisions that affect them.

In partnership with Imhotep's Legacy Academy, we will be hosting an Eat Think Vote event on Tuesday, April 22nd to allow community members and youth to converse with the federal candidates in Halifax. Eat Think Vote is a non-partisan campaign with candidates from all parties invited to join the conversation.

It's up to us to make food an election issue! Join us to talk to candidates about food systems issues that matter the most to you!

Event Details

What: A community event to meet your federal candidates and discuss the food systems issues that matter most to you. We eat together, we think about the food issues, then we vote in the federal election!

When: Tuesday, April 22nd, 2025 from 6:00-7:30pm

Where: Imhotep's Legacy Academy
1360 Barrington Street, Room J134.
Main Level, Sexton Memorial Gymnasium Building
